Barbados' Largest Credit Union takes its mandate to the next level with the launch of Legacy Foundation Inc.

Barbados Public Workers' Credit Union Limited used the occasion of its Annual Directors' Reception held at Hilton Barbados in December to officially launch Legacy Foundation Inc.—a philanthropic initiative of the members of the Credit Union.

The non-profit company was established so that the credit union's members and charity-minded Barbadians could pool their charitable donations and help to leave a positive, lasting impression on Barbados.

President of Legacy Foundation Inc., Dr. Sandra Reece during her remarks at the launch event said "Great leaders leave a legacy that transcends them, and cements their contribution to the transformation of their community. With the launch of Legacy, Barbados Public Workers' Co-operative Credit Union Limited has reaffirmed its role as a leader both in the credit union movement and the financial services sector in Barbados."

The Credit Union and its Foundation have taken a broad, long-term, generational view of its mandate and will focus on initiatives that seek to sustain the credit union movement and at the same time make the greatest positive impact to the widest possible number of Barbadians.

In order for this to be achievable they have identified the fundamental drivers as:

- Educational opportunities at all levels
- Good health
- Opportunities for underserved groups
